ASHMEADS CRESCENT ... ONE YEAR ON

We go back to a Gloucestershire site 12 months after the unveiling of a stunning new development of exclusive park homes to find out what's new

How things change in just one year. It was only last September that Orchard Park, in Twigworth, Gloucestershire, welcomed the mayor and mayoress of Tewkesbury, councillor Ron Allen and councillor Elaine MacTiernan, to officially open the new phase of homes in Ashmeads Crescent.

Now, one year on, having seen impressive customer interest, almost all the plots have been reserved and happy residents have moved into their new homes.

To mark the anniversary, and give the park's new residents a chance to meet and make friends, a summer street party with refreshments and music was held.

The party was a great success, with another planned in aid of Macmillan Cancer Support later in September.

'We're delighted,' said Helen Ford, sales manager at Orchard Park. 'A great number of residents and guests attended and everyone was impressed with how Orchard has taken shape.'

There is currently just one show home available at Orchard, which is due to arrive at Ashmeads in November. It's a fully furnished Omar Middleton home on a large corner plot within the gated development.

The Middleton boasts a striking exterior with twin roof dormers, curved bay windows and a feature front door framed by two half round columns. It also has a stylish interior design, with coordinating headboards and fully lined curtains in both bedrooms, plus a walk-in wardrobe.

Orchard Park's sales office is open throughout the week, or by appointment at weekends. For details, call 01452 730605 or visit www.parkhomelife.com.
